House OK's Massive School Aid Bill, 65-30

Ryan Overrules Constitutional Roadblock

LANSING (AP) — A massive, $849.5 million public school aid appropriation faces another test in the Michigan Senate after shaking off parochial and constitutional challenges in the House.

The lower chamber Friday passed 65-30, with 15 members not voting, an appropriation that is $4.1 million more than the Senate approved earlier and $4.9 million more than Gov. William G. Milliken's budget recommendation.

The Senate now must approve or reject House monetary and distributary adjustments. Also unresolved is the prospect of

Griffin Moving Force In Fortas' Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — He munched a cold hamburger and he jingled his keys and, reflecting on his beginning of Abe Fortas' downfall, he decided maybe a hard shake is good for democracy now and again.

It was Robert P. Griffin, a first term member of the U.S. Senate who first took up the fight against confirmation of Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Now that Fortas has resigned from the bench, Griffin can manage a sympathetic word for the former justice and voice hope for the future of the court. "He did restore some of our confidence in the Supreme Court by resigning," says Griffin, "though it was all he could do under the circumstances. It's a good precedent."

Provided Ammo

While Griffin doesn't claim a single-handed victory blocking Fortas' ascension to chief justice last year, it was the young Michigan senator who provided much of the ammunition in the battle. He disclosed the fact that Fortas was paid $15,000 for lecturing at a summer law school seminar out of $30,000 in donations solicited by a former law partner, Paul A. Porter, from five men with far-flung business and financial interests.

The Republican senator's interest in Fortas the man has diminished now that he is no longer a justice. He avoids talk of whether the Fortas case should be pursued further.

"It's up to the Justice Department now," Griffin says. "He's a private citizen now. I'm not aware of what is in the Justice Department files."

Weather's Storm

Actually, Griffin did not take a vocal role in the congressional furor over the final controversy that led to Fortas' quitting—revelation that, while on the court, Fortas kept for nearly a year a $20,000 fee from the family foundation of Louis E. Wolfson, a man now serving a prison term for stock manipulation.

"My concern now is in the Supreme Court and how it weathers the storm," he says.

"There are those who believe the court has been seriously damaged, but this is not necessarily true. I believe that from this episode a great deal of encouragement can be taken—that our system does work, the checks and balances. This illustrates that it works."

"You don't have to burn down buildings to make changes. Do it within the system."

Baseball Owners Have Vegas Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government records disclose owners of two major league baseball teams, the Atlanta Braves and the Oakland Athletics, have stock ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

Baseball historically has frowned on any gambling connections since a World Series scandal half a century ago.

Three officials of the Atlanta Braves, including the club president, William C. Bartholomay, are listed on the board of directors of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co., which owns three Las Vegas hotels and casinos.

The Oakland Athletics owner, Charles O. Finley, bought an estimated $2.7 million of stock in the same firm last month, Nevada records disclosed Friday.

Bartholomay confirmed his association with Parvin-Dohrmann to an Atlanta Journal newspaper with the team in Montreal but added he sees "no tie-in whatever with organized gambling."

"I don't own a hotel or a casino or a race track," he told the Journal's Wilt Browning. "But I own stock in a company that has interest in legal business in the state of Nevada."

The firm, which also supplies hotel equipment, has been reported under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The casinos are the Stardust, Fremont and Aladdin.

Three of the firm's seven directors—Bartholomay, Delbert

W. Coleman, and John J. Louis Jr.—are directors of the Atlanta Braves.

Coleman, a Chicago business executive, led a $10.5 million takeover of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co. last October. He is now chairman of its board of directors.

The stocks that Coleman purchased at $35 a share last fall were still worth $104.50 each on the market Friday despite a drastic plunge in price the last three days.

The stock has plummeted by $33 a share from its close Tuesday at $137.50.

The firm has figured in published reports concerning Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who is listed as the salaried president of The Albert Parvin Foundation. The foundation's latest available tax records report stock holdings in Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Baseball traditionally has avoided gambling ties since eight Chicago White Sox players were accused of having agreed to lose the 1919 World Series to Cincinnati. Although the eight were found innocent by a Chicago jury, baseball took action against them.

Gambling is legal in Las Vegas, where baseball odds today listed the Braves at 7-2 to win the National League pennant and the Athletics at 4-1 in the American League fight.

Both teams are currently in first place in their division races.

Malaysian Riot Slackens Off

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — After four days of communal rioting, Malaysians in some areas of the city emerged from their homes today to stockpile food, but the neighborhoods hardest hit by arson, looting and shootings remained under strict curfew.

In another development, the National Operations Council which took over the government Friday ordered police to confiscate all foreign news media carried in the present military and political situation.

Thieu, who met for more than two hours with Secretary of State William P. Rogers Friday, said of the timing for a meeting, "the sooner the better." He evidently would like it held in Washington if Nixon is favorable to the idea.

Police and military forces were ordered to shoot all lawbreakers on sight. After a night of monsoon showers, they described the strife-torn capital as "much calmer" and later announced it was "tense but under control" for the first time in five days.

First All-Michigan Edition

Press Uses Michigan Paper

Take a good look at the Escanaba Daily Press today.

For what may be the first time in Michigan history—and certainly for the first time in 40 or 50 years—a Michigan daily newspaper was printed on Michigan-made newsprint manufactured totally from Michigan grown products.

Newsprint for today's edition of the Daily Press was furnished by the Manistique Pulp &

Paper Co. on the eve of the annual Michigan Week observance in the state.

The Manistique papermill is the only mill in the state which still produces newsprint.

Frank S. Hoholik, president and general manager of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., said all of the pulp for the paper was produced from Michigan wood harvested in the eastern part of the Upper Peninsula between Escanaba and Manistique.

About 99.5 per cent of the pulp was made out of wood, he said, with dyes and chemicals obtained from Michigan sources comprising the remaining half per cent.

All From Michigan
"I believe this is the first time that a Michigan daily newspaper has been printed on totally Michigan products," he said. "There has been no other newsprint mill in Michigan for at least 40 or 50 years."

The Daily Press in recent years published a number of editions on papers produced at the Escanaba Division of Mead Corp., but George S. Douglas of Escanaba, who was general manager of the papermill at the time, said that not all of the pulp used in the paper came from Michigan. He said the wood used would have been harvested in the Upper Peninsula, but the chemical pulp probably came from Georgia.

The Daily Press uses newsprint obtained from Canadian papermills with Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Field Enterprises, Inc., sending part of its paper production to Chicago where Field Enterprises publishes the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Sun-Times.

Today's edition of the Daily Press was published on letterpress newsprint, one of several grades of newsprint produced at Manistique.

Built 51 Years Ago
"Our mill currently produces a wide variety of publication grade papers, including newsprint," Hoholik said.

The Manistique papermill was built 51 years ago under ownership of the Tribune Publishing Co., which published the Minneapolis, Minn., Tribune. In 1934, it was purchased by Mead Corp., which in turn sold the facility to the Trenton, N. J. Times to meet demands of South American publishers for newsprint in the post-World War II years.

Shortly after the purchase, however, Scandinavian and Canadian mills entered the South American market with large quantities of paper at lower costs, minimizing the value of Manistique-produced paper. Hoholik said contracts were released and the Manistique mill reentered the newsprint business in the United States.

Only Midwest Newsprint
In 1959, Manistique Pulp & Paper Co. was acquired by Field Enterprises, Inc.

Hoholik said the Manistique mill now is the only newsprint mill in the midwestern United States. In the early days of paper manufacturing, he said, most mills produced newsprint, but as technology improved the companies shifted to high grade papers and into tissue manufacture, etc.

U. P. Votes

U.P. Representatives in the House split when voting on the public school appropriation bill which passed 65-30. Hellman-D and Davis-R voted for it and Jacobetti-D and Varnum-R opposed it.

Senate revival of the defeated House plan for parochial-state aid for private schools.

Senate President Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, said Friday that "based on past experience, I'm confident somebody who really wanted to would find a way" to add a parochial amendment.

Reading Of Bills

In the House, meanwhile, Speaker William A. Ryan, leader of the outvoted parochial forces, overruled a temporary constitutional roadblock thrown up by Rep. John Smeekens, R-Sherwood.

Ryan said the House need not abide by Smeekens' contention that the Michigan Constitution requires a word-for-word reading of every bill before a final vote on the House floor.

Smeekens, who insisted he would not bring any court challenge to the education bill, said "any private citizen" could get a court injunction against the bill if it were not actually read aloud by a clerk.

Ryan, interpreting the House rule allowing four-fifths or 88 of the 110 members to vote not to hear a bill read, said "the legislative process must not be bogged down with quite impossible or impractical requests." Complying with the Constitution, Ryan said, means upholding "a spirit and purpose of the Constitution."

Read Title Only

The traditional reading of bills, Ryan said, no longer serves its original informational purpose. The 1963 Constitutional Convention, Ryan argued, "could only have meant that the bill must be read in title... so that the citizenry and the legislator would know (it)... is before a house of the Legislature."

But as speaker, Ryan said the House should "accord every consideration" to any member and directed House clerks to read the bill in a nearly empty chamber while Smeekens listened.

The Republican legislator, a state senator from 1956 to 1964, called the reading a "mockery" and finally withdrew his request after Ryan refused to recognize his demand for a quorum call.

Some legislators chuckled and commented, "Smeekens weakens," a punning reference to the legislator's longtime campaign slogan that "Smeekens never weakens."

Need Auctioneer

Majority floor leader George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, said if Smeekens had been successful, the House would "have to send down to tobacco country for some unemployed auctioneers to work full time. We'd call them first, second and third bill - reading clerks," he said.

Adoption of the school aid bill marks a high point of House activity thus far in the session. The lower chamber often has been embroiled in debate on matters not directly involved with bills before it.

Apollo Astronauts Eager For Sunday's Moon Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Eager to start their voyage of discovery, the Apollo 10 astronauts relaxed today as the launch crew prepared the rocket and spaceship to transport them a quarter million miles to orbit the moon.

The three veteran spacemen, Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan, are to ride into space at 12:49 p.m. EDT Sunday on the power of a 36-story-tall Saturn 5 rocket.

There was concern for several hours Friday night and early today that the flight might have to be postponed because of a suspected leak in the spaceship's fuel system.

But the troubleshooting teams traced the problem to a loose electrical connection. It was tightened and the countdown continued.

Proceeds Landing

The astronauts are to fly a pathfinder mission intended to clear the way for two Apollo 11 astronauts to land on the moon in July.

"Apollo 10" explained Commander Stafford, "is designed to tie together all the knots, to try to sort out all the unknowns and pave the way for a lunar landing—to do everything exactly as on the landing mission except the final descent to the lunar surface."

The trio planned to spend the day in the crew quarters five miles from the launch pad, reviewing the complex flight plan and keeping track of the countdown. They will have dinner at 7 p.m. tonight in the quarters with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Agnew is chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, which advises the President on space matters.

Go-Ahead

Mrs. Agnew planned dinner at nearby Patrick Air Force Base with Barbara Cernan, the only astronaut wife here to view the blastoff. Faye Stafford and Barbara Young will watch on television at their homes near the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex.

Apollo 10 mission director George Hage Friday gave the go-ahead for the final countdown after reviewing the status of the astronauts, the Saturn 5, spaceship, recovery forces, launch operations and weather.

Dr. Charles Berry, the astronauts' chief physician, said the spacemen had no signs of illness and "they appear to be well rested."

For three days, the astronauts are to pour outwards across trackless space, zeroing in on their distant target, 237,000 miles away. As they zip behind the moon's backside, they'll fire themselves into an orbit 69 miles above the surface.

Halfway through their 2½-day orbit of the moon, Stafford and Cernan are to transfer to a lunar module, or LEM, tucked to the command ship nose. They'll detach the spidery vehicle and execute a series of maneuvers that twice will take them 9.3 miles above the site where Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin hope to land July 20.

Nixon To Honor Viet War Heroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon concentrated on his duties as commander-in-chief this Armed Forces Day with a ceremony honoring two heroes of the Vietnam war and a review of U.S. seapower in action.

A ceremony on the South Lawn of the White House was set up for Nixon to present Medals of Honor to Army Chief Warrant Officer Frederick E. Ferguson and Army Spec. 4 Thomas J. Kinsman.

Ferguson, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Ferguson of El Centro, Calif., earned the nation's highest award for gallantry on Jan. 31, 1968. While commanding a resupply helicopter, he flew through heavy anti-aircraft, mortar and small arms fire to rescue wounded passengers and crewmen of another helicopter downed within the Communist-controlled city of Hue.

Kinsman, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Kinsman of Onalaska, Wash., then a private first class, saved seven comrades from injury or death when he threw himself on an enemy grenade during an engagement at Vinh Long on Feb. 6, 1968. Kinsman suffered severe head and chest wounds.

This afternoon Nixon was to fly by helicopter to the aircraft carrier Saratoga some 45 miles off Norfolk, Va., to see a demonstration of naval firepower and anti-air warfare by a 14-ship attack carrier strike group.

About 20 per cent of the work will be in the Upper Peninsula. The department said it expects about $16.5 million in state financed improvements, including safety projects, will be added at a later date.

Ford Airport Probe Ordered

IRON MOUNTAIN — The Dickinson County Aeronautics Commission will conduct a full-scale investigation into activities at Ford Airport, Kingsford. A request for a probe into the airport was made by Supervisor Edward Jansen of Breitung Township at an emergency fact-finding meeting of the commission Friday night.

The meeting was called after a fight earlier this week in a Spread Eagle, Wis., bar involving employees of Fontana Aviation, Inc., and Orion Airways.

Fontana Aviation maintains a fixed-base operation at the airport while Orion Airways operates a mail air-taxi service from the Iron Mountain-Kingsford facility. Joseph Fontana Sr., owner of Fontana Aviation, also acts as airport manager for Dickinson County.

Expected to be called to testify in the investigation are representatives of Fontana Aviation, Orion Airways, North Central Airlines and Avis Rent-A-Car.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Mark Fontana, son of the owner, and a companion charging assault and battery in the Florence County tavern on two Orion Airways pilots. Fontana is associated with his father in airport operations.

Advisory Group Loses Funding; To Keep Active

EAU CLAIRE, Wis.—Volunteer citizen members of the Northern Great Lakes Resource Development Committee (NGLRDC) have decided to keep the "Open for Business" sign up despite a loss of some of their funding.

Committee members have learned that the U. S. Department of Agriculture has cancelled authorization of $5,250 used to pay travel expenses of the committee. The 27 members, representing 119 counties in northern Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, meet three times a year and as subcommittees less frequently.

Organized in Jan., 1964, following the land and people's conference in Duluth, Minn., the committee has located problems in the depressed areas of the three states and has attempted to catalyze action programs that would assist in development of human and natural resources.

To Observe Heritage Day:

Marker Dedication, Museum Opening Set

The opening of the Delta County Historical Museum at Ludington Park on Tuesday, May 20, observed as Heritage Day, and the dedication of a Whitefish River trail historical marker the following day are Michigan Week events sponsored by the Delta County Historical Society.

Mrs. Clint Dunathan, Society president, said the hours for the Museum open house are from 2 to 5 o'clock and that coffee will be served. The public is invited.

"The Historical Society is proud of the Museum addition and the new displays made possible by the extra space," said Mrs. Dunathan. The addition doubles the floor space and was financed by the generous contributions of the public and the cooperation of the City of Escanaba.

The new exhibits include:

• Music room, centered by an antique piano once owned by J. H. McDonald of Escanaba, industrialist, and lieutenant governor of Michigan. McDonald was killed in a train wreck while lieutenant governor. The display was arranged by Laurel Welland, Patsy Douglas and Margaret Mosenfelder, serving the Museum as Girl Scout aides.

• Railroads, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. John Nystrom. Mr. Nystrom, now retired, was for many years employed by the Chicago & North Western Railway. Tools and other items from the Museum are arranged to tell the story of railroad development in Delta County.

Iron Mountain Man Seeks State Highway Post

IRON MOUNTAIN—Leigh J. Tobin, Iron Mountain, is seeking the support of the Dickinson County Board of Supervisors as a candidate for a position on the Michigan Highway Commission.

At the present time, the U. P. is not represented on the commission.

In a letter directed to the board, Tobin said:

"I would like to announce my decision to seek the appointment for State Highway Commissioner from the Upper Peninsula of Michigan."

"I sincerely ask the board's recommendation and support."

In March, the county board named Tobin to another three-year term on the Dickinson County Road Commission. He is serving his third term.

Fishermen Face State Phase-Out

Michigan's Natural Resources Commission has adopted a pair of resolutions urging passage of bills in Congress and the State Legislature which would provide federal and state funds to reimburse those commercial fishermen who will be phased out of business for their loss of investments.

Under authority of an act passed last year, the Department of Natural Resources and a Great Lakes Fishery Advisory Committee appointed by Governor Milliken are working on proposed regulations which will more tightly control Michigan's commercial fishing industry.

Goal of these proposals is to better protect fishery resources of this state's Great Lakes waters.

The new regulations are scheduled to take effect in 1970 and among them will be measures to limit the number of Michigan's commercial fishermen, spell out when, where, and how they can operate, and set catch quotas by areas for their operations.

Roy Jensen, chairman of the advisory committee from Escanaba, reported that his group is making tentative plans to reduce the state's number of commercial fishermen to 300 next year and to 150 in 1971. Presently, the industry has about 450 licensed commercial fishermen.

Volunteers Plan Eventful Week

Michigan-Land Of Hospitality

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Writer
"Bigger and better than ever."

That well backed-up brag, along with "Michigan—Land of Hospitality," are the themes of the 16th annual Michigan Week. Some 15,000 volunteers have been planning ever since last Michigan Week for this year's celebration.

The variety of events offered almost defies listing.

For instance: —Police in Iron County will be stopping out-of-town tourists and giving them free tickets for coffee and doughnuts.

—An all-electric car will be driven from Detroit to Sault Ste. Marie to Houghton to promote the week and the Michigan Technological University Engineering Show.

—Log-Hewing —Jackson's Ella Sharp Museum will display such exotic arts as glass-blowing, log hewing and bullet-making.

—The Michigan Poetry Society is asking children to submit poems about trees. They must be submitted on green, leaf-shaped construction paper. The week has been termed by a major advertising agency as "Michigan's biggest public relations program."

Every year it draws more and more visitors.

In addition to the whirl of activity at home, Michigan bean, apple and cherry queens will be touring Washington, D.C., and New York City to plug the state's agricultural products.

The trio are Apple Queen Jackie Lund of Ludington, Bean Queen Susie Beller of Akron, a student at Ferris State College, Big Rapids, and Cherry Queen Julie Anne Hamilton of Cedar Springs, now working in Grand Rapids.

Psychologist Finds Head Start Helps Educably Retarded

An evaluation of the Menominee - Delta - Schoolcraft Community Action Agency's Special Pilot Head Start Program dealing with educably retarded children was recently undertaken by Lowell J. Grabau, clinical psychologist, at the Community Mental Health Center in Escanaba.

A brief summation of his findings shows the children in this program were evaluated in terms of changes in their maturity, speech and language, response to discipline, muscular coordination, and family behavior.

The fairly comprehensive classroom behavior was undertaken in cooperation with Mrs. Richard Juetten, the teacher, and through the use of psychological tests and neurological examination. In each child's case, the family was also contacted and asked for its evaluation of the child in terms of the above mentioned behavioral modes.

Examples of some of the detailed evaluative procedures were use of a nine point scale to quantify such observable characteristics as playing, talking and working with other children, dressing self, washing hands, table manners, response to discipline, following directions, puzzle working, etc.

Each child was evaluated upon admission to the Head Start Program and then re-evaluated this past month.

Most of the children in the program showed rather striking and significant improvement in their social behavior and their ability to follow instructions and act constructively. Overall intellectual and neurological functioning seemed definitely improved in the majority of cases.

"Perhaps the most striking improvement was noted in the homes where parents made such remarks as to indicate that their child was much happier, played more together with other children, and was much less of a disruptive influence in the home. In no case was regression seen and in most cases, improvement was rated by the parents as moderately improved to greatly improved," Grabau reported.

"In short, the overall picture of these children is that they were significantly improved in social behavior, ability to act constructively in a classroom situation, and in their overall neuromuscular controls and intellectual level of functioning," he said.

Consolidation?

Consolidation of the Powers-Spalding, Hermansville and Bark River-Harris public school districts will be determined by the wisdom of the electorate Monday.

Each district will vote separately and individual approval by voters of each district is needed to unite the areas into a single educational unit. Rejection by residents of one district will kill the whole plan, at least for now.

The Boards of Education of the three districts voted unanimously to present the plan to the voters. The fate of the proposal, however, will ride with the individual communities and there-in holds the greatest hurdle.

In any such consolidation proposal there is a strong tendency to regard only the physical consequences of the change and in this proposal the surface looks much smoother for the Powers-Spalding area.

Although any decisions on construction of new buildings, etc., would rest with the new Board of Education elected to represent the entire district, the indication is strong that the high school program of the proposed district would have to be spotted in Powers, the most centrally-located community. Hermansville probably would get a new elementary school. No new buildings are proposed for the Bark River-Harris area as the district already has a modern and spacious elementary school.

In addition, transportation problems in the Powers-Spalding district would not be greater than at present, but Bark River-Harris and Hermansville High School students could look forward to longer bus rides every day.

Educationally, however, there is little doubt that a unified district would be able to provide a better program for its students. While the new district still would not begin to approach the enrollment of an Escanaba Area school district, opportunities not now available to students in the individual districts could be opened if united.

Transportation problems can be overcome. Debt consolidation can be worked out. So can many of the other administrative details in such a merger.

The key question is whether or not there is prospect for a better educational program for the students of Powers-Spalding, Hermansville and Bark River-Harris — now or in the immediate future — by remaining apart.

It is this consideration upon which the final judgment should rest.

Parochial Vote

The Upper Peninsula voted in the majority in the Michigan House of Representatives on the parochial amendment to the state school aid bill the other day.

Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique), R. W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) and Russell Hellman (D-Dollar Bay) lined up against the amendment, which would have approved state financial assistance to schools but provided only $100,000 in cash this year. Rep. Dominick Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) voted in favor of the amendment.

By political parties, 41 Democrats favored the amended bill and 15 voted against. There were nine Republicans in favor and 43 against. One Republican failed to vote and one Democratic representative was absent.

The State Central Committee of the Democratic Party of Michigan opposed parochial aid by a rather large margin, according to Patti Knox of Detroit, party vice chairman. The Republican committee took no official position.

Yet, when the vote was taken, a majority of the Democrats favored parochial aid while most Republicans voted against it. The roll call on the amendment may not have any particular significance except to show which way the wind is blowing, but it's still interesting to ponder. Wonder what the legislature will do next time?

A Cause Of Poverty

Of all the causes of poverty, the one which has received the least attention may be one of the worst offenders — unenlightened taxation.

Numerous people in this country live close to the poverty line. Heavy taxation often pushes them below it.

Consider, for example, the case of a Maryland widow whose plight has come to the attention of Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Md.

In 1968 she earned $3,108 — barely above the government-defined poverty level of $3,000 a year. That was before taxes.

She is required to render to the federal and state governments $526.37 in taxes, reducing her net income to $2,581.63 a year. Thus she finds herself substantially below the poverty line.

But that is not all. Last year her husband died, and she will be faced with higher taxes still because she is now classified as a single person, subject to a heavier levy.

Beall comments that "while our government said that $3,000 a year is the income which separates a person from poverty, in the case of this lady who earned $3,108 the federal government is collecting $324 in federal income taxes."

There are undoubtedly many people in the United States who find themselves in a comparable situation. The so-called "war on poverty" means little to them. They lose a battle every time they pay their taxes.

Peninsula Potpourri

Depositors in the First National Bank at St. Ignace can feel secure in the knowledge that their money is safe. Not even the bank president, working with a full staff under expert advice, can break into the vault. The problem developed when the bolt on the door of the vault failed to seat correctly at closing time, but once the time-lock mechanism started there was no way to either open or close the door further. An expert from lower Michigan solved the problem the next day.

Plans for a $30,000 expansion program at Cliff's Ridge ski area near Marquette were announced by Cliff's Ridge, Inc. In addition to the ski shop, an extension of the Constan T-bar to the nob, cutting of two new slopes and other work is planned.

ANOTHER POLLUTION PROBLEM

Yorty Strikes Back At Radical Forces

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The New York City mayor contest, which will make or break John Lindsay's hopes to parlay a career in Republican ultra-liberalism to the Presidency, is manifestly the most important domestic political battle of the year. But the May 27 runoff in Los Angeles between two-term incumbent Sam Yorty and Thomas Bradley, the ex-policeman and present city councilman who hopes to become his city's first Negro mayor, has its national interest too.

The issues are somewhat obscured by the fact that Sam Yorty is a Democrat. If he is defeated in his bid for a third term, it won't be a direct blow to Republican Governor Ronald Reagan's conservative domination of the California political scene.

But since Sam Yorty is, in many important ways, a symbol of the conservative and patriotic cause (he is against walking out of Vietnam, for example), the Reaganites have a vested interest in a Yorty victory. It could make some difference to State and national Republican chances in 1970 and 1972 if Bradley, an ultra-liberal Democrat, captures the Los Angeles City Hall and makes it a focus of inspiration and activity for the California

Left that already has Alan Cranston as its champion in the U. S. Senate.

Because the Los Angeles race has its distinct philosophic overtones even though it is being fought out on non-partisan (which is to say a non-party) basis, the presence of Henry Salvatori as manager of the Yorty campaign needs no elaborate explanation. Salvatori, of course, has been Governor Reagan's most influential supporter in both state and national politics.

Salvatori has access to money; he also has command of expertise. Whether he can surmount the natural prejudice of a huge urban conglomerate against giving any man a third term in City Hall is a most interesting question. Sam Yorty-Travelin' Sam—has not always stayed home (although the rest of the country must honor him for his fact-finding trips to Vietnam and to Los Angeles' "sister city" of Elath at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba in embattled Israel).

There has been corruption in some of the Los Angeles boards, although Yorty, as the "powerless mayor," cannot be blamed for every malfeasance and misfeasance that has occurred during his two terms. Not even the most perfect Mayor in a big American city could, after two terms, escape what has been called the "Aristidism of heroes." (The classical Greeks, it may be recalled, got tired of hearing Aristides being called "the just.")

No Aristides in his temperament, which is suitably combative, Sam Yorty is not above carrying his attacks to the enemy in personal terms. He has raised the Red issue in his attempt to close the gap between himself and opponent Bradley. Whether the issue has more substance than shadow depends on the seriousness of the charges which Yorty has made against Don Rothenberg, a top strategist in the Bradley campaign.

Rothenberg was identified by witnesses before the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a Communist Party member. But that was in the early Fifties. Rothenberg, who once took the Fifth Amendment before the House Committee, now says he quit the Communists in 1956. But Yorty presses the issue of the man's continued radicalism, bringing up clippings from the San Francisco Examiner that tell of Rothenberg's work as assistant to the publisher of the ultra-Left Ramparts Magazine and his activity in chairing a meeting to start a fund drive to buy guns for Negroes to afford them "a fighting chance" against police and the National Guard in the "long hot summer" of 1967. Bradley refused to get rid of Rothenberg when Yorty insisted on attacking the man's record.

Rothenberg is not the only ultra-Left character in the Bradley corner, for the California Democratic Council is sparking much of the anti-Yorty campaign. Where the C-DC stands is indicated by the organization's demand voiced at a statewide meeting in Fresno in April, that S. I. Hayakawa, the Acting President of San Francisco State College who has stood up to campus violence, should be asked to resign. The Californians for Liberal Representation, which opposes Yorty on the Vietnam issue, is another Leftist group working for Bradley.

So the Left-Right issue is joined in the fight for the Los Angeles City Hall. Yorty didn't invent Rothenberg, the CDC and the CLR, so he can hardly be blamed when he brings them up.

Arrest Student; Threatened Nixon

DENVER (AP) — A student trainee at Lowry Air Force Base was removed from a classroom Thursday and charged with threatening the life of President Nixon.

U.S. Atty. Gordon Allott Jr. signed the warrant for the arrest of Airman Garry Martin, 18, Detroit.

The complaint said Martin, in the presence of two witnesses, made a threat against the President. It quoted Martin as saying "If I had the chance and the gun, I would kill the President."

Martin was taken to the U.S. marshal's office and later arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Richard H. Plock Jr. He was released on a $5,000 bond and told he could not leave Colorado.

Martin has been stationed at Lowry about two weeks.

Opening lead—jack of clubs. This interesting hand shows the lengths to which a careful declarer will sometimes go to give himself the maximum chance for the contract.

West leads the jack of clubs against six hearts. Declarer sees he is bound to make the slam if the clubs are divided 3-2, so, from the start, his thoughts are concentrated on protecting against a 4-1 division of that suit.

His first step is to win the club in dummy with the ace. This leaves him in a position to finesse against the 10-x-x in either opponent's hand if the suit is divided 4-1.

East follows low and South has no way of knowing which, if either, defender has the three remaining clubs. He then draws three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and leads a low diamond. He hopes East has the ace, for, if that is the case, the contract is cold.

When East follows low, South wins with the king, thus marking East with the ace. Declarer now cashes two high spades before playing his last two trumps to produce this position:

South cashes the king of clubs, in this way guarding against either opponent's having started with four clubs. Thus, if East shows out on the king, South has a proven finesse against West.

But when, as in the actual case, West shows out, declarer still has the hand under control. He simply leads a diamond, forcing East to win with the ace and return a club, whether he likes it or not.

Ann Landers

Another Year With Sloppy Roommate

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is my roommate. She is the greatest. She is also the sloppiest. When she lived at home her mother was her maid. Here at school, I am.

At the beginning of the semester she used to ask me to fix her bed when she was late for a class. I always did it. Then she began leaving the bed unmade and her clothes all over the place. When I'd get mad and chew her out she'd say, "Be a lamb. I've gotta get this paper in tomorrow." or "I've got a groovy date and I'm late now." or "I have a rotten headache." That girl had a million excuses.

Two weeks ago I decided to ignore her side of the room until she cleaned it. Ann, it got so terrible I was ashamed to have anybody in. The orange peels, the half bottles of Coke, the cookies, the underwear, sweaters, shoes, cigar butts, newspapers—it was unbearable. So I cleaned up after her, like I swore I never would.

A month ago I signed up to be her roommate next year because we could stay in the same room and not have the mess of moving. What can I do about this miserable situation?—Wetnurse To A Slob

Dear Wet: Apparently you would prefer to live in a mess nine months of the year than go to the trouble of moving. You must like the slob so much you figure the mess is worth it. So resign yourself to picking up after her or living in a junk heap because those are your choices.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on two letters which appeared in your column recently. One was signed "Sick Of Sex And Hungry For Love." The other was from "Hey You."

At least a prostitute can have a day off. And she can spend her money as she pleases. A wife has no such privileges. Let's face it. Most men need a wife. And sex is only a small part of it. A man needs a wife to prepare his meals, do his laundry, keep the house in order, raise his children, run his errands, pay his bills, entertain his friends and make a social life for him. When a man is sick his wife is his nurse. When a woman is sick she drags herself around and keeps going until she drops. And oh yes—a man needs a woman to talk to when the TV breaks down.

When a wife feels that her husband is using her she has only one weapon. No sex. Let him go elsewhere. She has nothing to lose. There was nothing there to start with.—Woke Up Too Late

Dear Late: Your letter is so full of hostility and bitterness it causes me to wonder why you remain under the same roof with a man for whom you feel nothing but contempt.

If you haven't tried counseling, with or without your husband, I urge you to do so. You might learn something that will change your life. Your husband obviously turns you off—totally. But is it possible that you turned HIM off —first? I don't know the answer and you probably don't either. But I urge you to try to find it.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage—What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

James Roosevelt Reported Stabbed

GENEVA — (AP) — James Roosevelt, oldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was stabbed late Thursday night in a "family quarrel," a police duty officer reported.

The police said the injury to the 61-year-old Roosevelt was serious, but a spokesman for his investment firm reported: "We understand that Mr. Roosevelt has made a speedy recovery and will be discharged from the hospital in a day or two."

He would not comment on the stabbing, saying only: "This is a personal matter."

The police said Roosevelt was stabbed in the back at his villa in the suburb of Vesenaz.

The police duty officer refused to say who stabbed Roosevelt but said it "was not likely to have serious judicial consequences."

Mrs. Roosevelt was taken to a rest home.

Workshop Aiding Handicapped To Open On May 24

By MRS. I. R. NELSON

A group of civic minded citizens, meeting in the Spalding Township Hall in February to discuss the problems of the North Menominee County and Bark River-Harris area, planted the seed of an important idea—an idea which hopefully will benefit all the people in the area.

At the meeting were township supervisors, Melvin Fazer, Clement Ritter and district supervisor James Gribble; school superintendents Gerald Rittenburgh and Clifford Luft; retired businessman Henry W. Boyle, Reverend and Mrs. Carl Peppiatt, Mrs. Allan Kirschner, Floyd Rhode and Mrs. Roy Gatten.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the local Policy Advisory Committee of the Community Action Agency, whose Area Representative, Mrs. Shirley Oczus, was concerned about problems common to all the towns in the area. The idea planted was to become the nucleus of a program to assist the physically and mentally handicapped of the area—a Sheltered Workshop.

Opening May 24

And now the grand opening of the Men-O-Mee Sheltered Workshop at Hermansville, to be held Saturday, May 24 at 1 p. m., heralds the success of the idea.

Sheltered Workshops are a program of occupational therapy—work experience if you will—that shelters the employee, during training, from the extreme pressures of a production shop. Handicapped persons who avail themselves of the use of the workshop will be expected to be regular in attendance and to appear on time, but they will not have a production quota to fulfill.

Primary purpose of the workshop is to help the handicapped obtain a feeling of accomplishment, to allow them to meet and mix with others, and for some, to enable them to enter private industry.

Many of the handicapped have been pretty much kept from social life of any kind, and many have had little if any formal schooling. These people, with help, will be assisted to a better relationship with other people and shown the way to meaningful occupations.

Executive Board

The local communities, using the policy advisory committee as a base, have worked and planned for this facility. Ray Pawlowski, Easter Seal chairman and Ray LaPorte, director of the Community Action Agency, were asked to assist in the planning and formation of the workshop. A site committee was formed, and initial requirements for accreditation as a non-profit institution were explored.

Several public meetings were held, at which time interested members of the community were invited to come and assist the project. An Executive

Arrest Student In 'Fraud' Case

MARQUETTE — David E. Stevenson, 19, of 237 Payne Hall, Northern Michigan University, entered a plea of innocent Friday afternoon when arraigned in Marquette District Court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Stevenson, a sophomore from Berkley, Mich., was arrested by city Det. Marvin J. Gauthier and State Police Det. Sgt. Edwin Hill as a result of their investigation of the fraud case disclosed early this week at the university.

NMU officials reported someone had mailed letters addressed to "parents, students and alumni" of NMU on what appeared to be Northern Michigan University stationery.

An estimated 4,000 letters were sent, each asking a $7.50 donation for what was called "Student Publications," with the receipt requested to send checks to Box 308, Marquette.

Stevenson listed his attorney as Joseph Witek of Marquette, who was not available at the arraignment. Judge Stephen A. Catel of Ishpeming, presiding in the absence of Judge George E. Hill, scheduled a hearing for next Friday at which time the defendant will decide whether he wants a trial before the court or with a jury.

The charge is a misdemeanor, carrying $100 fine and/or a 90 day jail sentence.

Postal authorities are still investigating the case.

Stevenson has been editor and general manager of the Campus Mirror, which has been published as an insert in the Marquette Mirror, a weekly newspaper.

He was released on a $200 personal recognizance bond.

Governor's Mansion Scene Of Reception

LANSING (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. William Milliken, occupants of Michigan's first governor's residence for less than 24 hours, hosted their first official function at the mansion today.

Some 250 guests were invited to the home for a wedding reception honoring Trudy Gordon, daughter of Milliken's top aide, and George Carpenter of Grand Rapids.

Food for the affair was, of course, catered.

But the first lady catered an unofficial function herself Friday, totting a coffee pot and pastry to the new home for reporters and photographers waiting to record the move.

"I've brought you some coffee cake — from the Holland Tulip Festival," she said, pointing to a little wicker basket over her arm.

Grocery Shopping
Mrs. Milliken went grocery shopping — stocking up on eggs, bacon, english muffins — before driving herself and a backseat full of clothes and books to the $440,000 home.

She and the governor had been moving their personal items from their $180-a-month East Lansing apartment through the week.

"Moving is a terrible process," she confided, "even when you're able to recruit your husband."

The governor, she said, helped move books, clothes, African violets — all the items that will help make their residence a home.

Motorized Drapes
An aide said the chief executive also enjoyed learning how to operate the motorized drapes lining the mansion's sunken living room. "They're a favorite of Bill's," Mrs. Milliken said.

She, however, hasn't quite got the button combination down pat.

While waiting for the coffee to perk, the first lady answered questions and set out to show off the drapes. She pushed the wrong button and a distant

Miss Usher Fulfills Her Lifelong Dream

Marilyn Usher, 18, the daughter of the William Ushers of Cornell, began another Arabian Horse Show season on May 4. Her first year was very successful and she is hoping this year will be equally good.

She has her own purebred Arabian gelding, Richie, who was shown strictly as a halter horse last year. He was Reserve Champion gelding in Pennsylvania and was named the Michigan Horse Show Association Reserve Champion Gelding at halter in 1968. After only one show season he qualified to show in the United States National Classes to be held in Oklahoma City, Okla. in August of this year.

Came Unexpectedly

It had long been a dream of Marilyn's to become a horse trainer, but the position she now holds came quite suddenly and unexpectedly. She met her current employers, Wigard Arabian Farm of Columbia, Mich., quite by accident the summer of 1967. They were impressed by her ability and immediately offered her a position for the following year upon her graduation from Gwinn High School. She accepted the position, and after graduation in 1968, immediately left for her new job.

Much Time

Being a horse trainer involves a great deal of time, patience, and skill. Marilyn may work with a horse from two to three months before even beginning to get on his back. He is taught to walk, trot, and canter by command of the voice before he is ever ridden.

Marilyn is now training her own horse under English tack. She also trains all the other horses at the Wigard Farm, which consist of several other show champions as well. One of their two year olds was named Reserve Champion Mare at halter for 1968 by the Michigan Horse Show Association.

Marilyn Usher

Marilyn has supervision over all the horses, their tack, food, exercise and grooming. Occasionally she is called upon to answer correspondence and to show horses to unexpected visitors. She is also expected to hire all summer stable help.

Many Trips

Marilyn has done a considerable amount of traveling in the past year. She has made trips throughout the Midwest, to the East, and flew to Albuquerque, N. M. to view the Arabian National Championships. She has met many new and interesting people of the horseman world.

College Student

In addition to her duties as a horse trainer she is also a college student at Flint Community Junior College. Her intentions are to attend an Eastern College next fall for equine husbandry to further her career. She wishes someday to be an instructor in horsemanship, as well as hold down her present position as trainer and manager.

On The Sidelines With Mike Utt

After the recent "On The Sidelines" dealing with two of Escanaba Area High School's great athletes, Henry Wylie, track coach at Escanaba, went back into the files and found out that Jim Boyle was the all-time high scorer in Eskymo track history. Boyle scored 356 points in his career, including 71 in his sophomore year, 125 as a junior and 160 as a senior, which he recorded 26 first place finishes in 11 meets.

A track fan in the Manistique area found an error on the story reporting the results of the Great Lakes Conference track and field meet which appeared in Monday's Press. The story had Paul Symons of Negaunee breaking a long jump record by Duke Vischinger of Manistique set in 1963. Well, the Vischinger happens to be Mike (Duke) Dissinger, who set the mark in 1963 with a jump of 20' 6 3/4". In the same meet in 1963, Dissinger won four firsts, the high jump, the shot put, the high hurdles and the long jump. Symons set a new record this year with a jump of 20 feet 8 inches.

It was a banner year for the Escanaba Machine Co. bowling team this year as they captured four major trophies in the Tuesday night Bay de Noc League at the Bowl-A-Rama. They won the league championship, the league traveling trophy, the second-half championship and the roll-off trophy. Other trophies also presented at the league banquet recently went to Harold Krusic for the high average, Dick Puddy for the high game and Bob Karas for the high series.

Republie's Maurice Evans ran the two-mile in 10:19 last weekend in the Skyline Conference track meet held at Kingsford to better the U. P. Class D mark by 12.5 seconds. Channing won the meet with 68 1/2 points on the strength of Todd Lindemann's double victory. Pembine took runnerup honors with 45 points.

Going into a pair of track meets this past Thursday and Friday, Jim Hansen of Escanaba was the second leading scorer on the Northern Michigan track team with 16 points. Hansen competes in the discus and shot put for the Wildcats. Other cindermen from the area are John Vardigan of Escanaba who has gone 12' 6" in the pole vault and scored 9 1/2 points and Steve Schram of Gladstone who competes in the 880-yard run and has compiled 12 1/2 points.

Todd Lindemann of Channing is going to attend Oshkosh State University this fall on an athletic scholarship. He starred in baseball, basketball and track at Channing and was named to the All-U. P. Class D basketball team this year.

Two former Escanaba Area High School athletes, Paul Meunier and Ed Gauthier, have appeared in a total of 11 games for the Central Michigan University baseball team this spring. Meunier, a catcher, has played in six and has four hits in 14 trips to the plate while Gauthier has appeared in five games and is hitless in two trips to the plate. One of Meunier's hits was a home run.

Rudy Steiner of Iron Mountain and Neil Graff of Sioux Falls, S. D., will be in the quarterback slots today in the annual University of Wisconsin spring football game. Graff and Steiner have waged a close battle for the quarterback job throughout spring practice.

Norseman Cager Selected To Tour Czechoslovakia

Doug Benson, the Most Valuable Player on the 1968-69 Bay de Noc College basketball team, has been selected to play with a 13-man United States all-star team in Czechoslovakia during June.

Benson lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Benson, in Nadeau and attended the Carney-Nadeau Public Schools where he played varsity basketball and basketball. He was named to the Big Seven All-Conference team in his senior year.

This past season at Bay de Noc Community College, Benson averaged 10 points per game and about 12 rebounds a game. He connected on 62 per cent of his free throw attempts and made 43 per cent of his shots from the outside.

Benson was named to the team by Duane Woltzen, head basketball coach at Lakeland College in Cheboygan, Wis., the head coach of the U.S. all-star team. The squad will leave New York on June 6 and travel through Czechoslovakia for 20 days playing different Czech teams made up of players who play on the Czechoslovakian Olympic team.

Benson will leave for Lakeland College just prior to May 30 where the team will practice before leaving on the tour.

Agee Sparkles In Rally As Mets Nip Reds, 10-9

In the adventure-filled seven-plus years since the New York Mets first dropped—and that surely is what they did—into the National League, they have endured some pretty awful performances by some of their employees.

But few were worse than the disappointment Tommie Agee was upon his arrival last year. Touted as the solution to the center field problem, Agee became a delinquent, batting a paltry .217 with three triples, five homers and 17 runs batted in.

A solution, he was not. But Manager Gil Hodges insisted that Agee was better than that. And so far this season, the boss has been right.

Agee tagged a two-run triple Friday night, keying a six-run Met rally that carried New York to a 10-9 victory over Cincinnati. His two hits lifted his batting average to .307 and his two RBIs gave him 19 for the year—two more than he managed all last season.

In other National League action Friday, Atlanta tripped Montreal 7-5 in 12 innings, Philadelphia took San Francisco 3-1.

Chicago bombed Houston 11-0, Los Angeles rallied for a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh and San Diego trimmed St. Louis 2-1.

The Mets had dropped behind 6-4 on a pinch hit three-run homer by Jimmy Stewart in the sixth inning. But New York and Agee, bounced right back.

With two out in the seventh, Ed Kranepool and J. C. Martin delivered run-scoring singles to tie the score. Bud Harrelson singled, loading the bases and pinch hitter Rod Gaspar singled for two runs. Then Agee unloaded his triple for two more and a 10-6 lead.

Those last two runs proved important when the Reds rallied for three in the bottom of the seventh, leaving the Mets clinging tenaciously to a 10-9 lead. That turned out to be the final score.

Tito Francona's two-out, two-run homer in the 12th lifted the Braves past the Expos and made a winning pitcher of reliever Claude Raymond, a Quebec native who received a standing ovation from the Montreal fans.

Rico Carty, who missed all of last year with tuberculosis, cracked a three-run pinch homer for the Braves and Coco Labov connected for the Expos.

Richie Allen hit another towering homer and Philadelphia whipped San Francisco. Allen's two-run shot sailed high over Connie Mack Stadium's left field roof at the 350-foot mark for his sixth homer of the year.

Willie Mays hit his fourth and 591st of his career for the Giants.

Ken Holtzman pitched a three-hitter for Chicago's third shutout in the last four games and the Cubs exploded for a 10-run seventh inning to demolish Houston. The Cubs sent 15 batters to the plate and got nine hits in the big inning with Don Young, Glenn Beckert, Ron Santo and Randy Hundley driving in two runs each.

Willie Crawford's two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth got Los Angeles past Pittsburgh after the Pirates had rallied for three runs in their half of the ninth to take the lead.

Reliever Jim Brewer's throwing error allowed Pittsburgh's tying runs to score in the ninth and then a pinch single by Carl Taylor sent the Pirates into a temporary lead which lasted until Crawford unloaded.

Pinch hitter Ivan Murrell followed a pair of intentional walks with a run-scoring single in the last of the ninth inning that got San Diego past St. Louis. Al Ferrara's second pinch homer of the season tied the score for the Padres in the seventh.

Epstein Hits Three; Senators Lose, 10-9

By The Associated Press

Mike Epstein's major league career has been one disappointment after another since he left Baltimore for Washington, but now he's bunting three . . . no, make that four . . . disappointments all into one game.

The young Senators' first baseman, finally fulfilling promise of the power-hitting promise that was expected of him, crashed three home runs Friday night, but they were all for naught as Washington still lost to the Chicago White Sox 7-6.

And if that wasn't bad enough, disappointment No. 4 came in the ninth inning when Epstein missed a chance at a record fourth homer that might have won the game. He was the next hitter when Hank Allen hit into a game-ending double play.

The Seattle Pilots, on the other hand, rapped three homers in the 11th inning—by John Kennedy, Tommie Harper and Wayne Comer—and they proved just enough to nip the rallying Boston Red Sox 10-9.

In other games, John "Blue Moon" Odum became the first seven-game winner in the majors as he and Oakland blanked Cleveland 3-0, Baltimore overcame Kansas City 5-3 in 11 innings and the New York Yankees rallied in the ninth to beat California 2-1. Detroit was rained out at Minnesota.

Epstein, an articulate 26-year-old who caused a great stir in 1967 when he forced Baltimore to trade him under a threat that he would quit, was rated a super-star of the future. But in two seasons with the Senators, he has hit a disappointing .226 and .234 with a total of 22 homers.

Epstein raised his average to .277 and his homers to eight against the White Sox and the third clout of the night with a man on in the seventh looked very satisfying at the time, tying the game 6-6.

But Chicago's brilliant rookie,

Carlos May, slammed his 10th homer in the bottom of the ninth for the decisive run.

Frank Howard had hit his 14th homer and Brant Aleya his third earlier for the Senators, but their last hope rested in the ninth with Epstein. There were two men on and one out when Allen grounded into the final two outs, and Epstein returned to the dugout in disappointment as Washington lost for the eighth time in nine starts.

Seattle barely avoided still bigger disappointments after the homer barrage and Don Mincher's run-scoring double for six runs in the 11th inning.

The Red Sox came back on Rico Petrocelli's 11th homer with a man on, two runs on a hit that got through outfielder Comer and Mike Andrews' sacrifice fly before Carl Yastrzemski struck out to end the game.

Odum won his seventh game against one loss with a seven-hitter, backed by Dick Green's two-run homer in the seventh off loser Mike Paul, 1-1, and Danny Cater's solo shot in the ninth. Paul didn't allow a hit until Bert Campaneris doubled with one out in the sixth before the A's broke loose for their eighth triumph in nine games.

Frank Robinson again was Baltimore's man with the bat as he singled twice to drive in one early run and set up another and then singled in the two winning runs in the 11th.

Bobby Murcer brought the Yankees from behind in the ninth with a two-run, two out, double down the right field line that beat rookie Rudy May.

May had given only one hit and had retired 15 straight hitters until Bill Robinson opened the ninth with a hit. May got the next two hitters, but Tom Tresh singled, setting up Murcer.

Winner Fritz Peterson allowed only three hits and retired the last 19 batters he faced.

Horton Misses Plane; Expected Back Today

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Where is Willie Horton?

That still was an unanswered question today.

Gates Brown, Horton's roommate, said the 26-year-old Detroit Tiger outfielder had not checked into his room at the Radisson Hotel overnight in Minneapolis.

Booted lustily by Detroit fans Thursday night, Horton walked out before the end of the game and disappeared.

While his attorney said in Detroit Horton was expected to rejoin the team before the world champions take on the Minnesota Twins in a nationally televised game here today, Brown told a reporter at 8 a.m. Horton still had not checked in.

Whether Horton is suspended or merely missing was another question.

Manager Mayo Smith said the chunky outfielder had been suspended indefinitely "until he decides to rejoin his teammates," the qualification raised the question.

Smith announced Horton's "suspension" when he failed to catch Detroit's chartered airplane for the Minnesota trip Friday.

Horton led the Tigers in home runs with 36 and batted .285 as they won the American League pennant and the World Series in 1968.

Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell said "Horton is all upset. He's never been booed before. This was the first time."

Campbell said he talked with Horton's attorney by telephone, and the lawyer indicated Horton would arrive in time for today's game.

But Horton did not show up Friday night when the Tigers' game against the Twins was rained out.

"He was fighting the slump," said Smith, "and fighting himself. I guess it was an emotional thing with him. The harder he tried the worse it became."

Horton was batting only .213 and had struck out 34 times in 108 official at-bats before he jumped the team.

For every game he misses, it is costing him a reported $340, of his estimated $60,000 annual salary.

Detroit officials refused comment on a report Horton was boycotting the team because he wanted to be traded.

"In all fairness to Willie and the ball club," said Campbell, "I have no comment."

In the Detroit dressing room before and after the game was postponed, the players conducted their usual bull sessions and didn't appear to be affected by Horton's decision.

Senior outfielder Al Kaline said since Horton was "a home town boy and he'd never heard the Detroit fans boo him before, I'm sure he got pretty upset by it. Getting away from baseball for a few days may be the best thing for him. I think it will clear the air for everybody."

MANISTIQUE Clean-Up Is Key To Community's Pride

BY JAN STRASMA

Today is Community Pride Day, the opening Day of Michigan Week and the closing day of the clean-up and beautification week organized by the Operation Pride Committee.

Phil Ott and Mrs. Mary Moffat, co-chairmen of Operation Pride, report that many area groups and individuals have been cooperating in the clean-up and beautification effort.

"We are now urging residents of Schoolcraft County to make Community Pride day a day for cleaning up their homes and yards," the co-chairmen reported. "The best way to show pride in your community is to show pride in your home," they added.

Evaluation forms have been distributed throughout Manistique and Schoolcraft County by Manistique High School students. The forms enable residents to evaluate the appearance of their own homes and set up a plan to improve it.

Clean Up Lots

Vacant lot owners, too, have an opportunity to have their lots cleaned, according to the co-chairmen. School clubs and youth groups have volunteered to clean lots, providing 5 workers for $1.50 a hour. A minimum charge is $5 per lot.

Owners wanting a work crew may call Marcia Hubble, president of the Student Council, at 341-2486.

Surveys of area vacant lots and residential junk have been made by members of the Manistique Women's Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Lists of abandoned autos and excess junk will be submitted to Robert Noe, the city manager, and to Boyd Briggs, the county sanitarian, for official action.

The Senior Citizens got the clean-up drive off two weeks ago with a work session at the Senior Citizens Drop-in Center. Job's Daughters, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the 4-H Teen Service Club have cleaned litter from area parks and beaches.

Clean Bandshell

Several church youth groups have volunteered to assist elderly members of their churches with clean-up and home repairs.

The Lions Club is planning a clean-up of the bandshell area and the old hockey rink. The Rotary Club is developing a campaign to improve old signs along the highways in the county and remove obsolete ones.

Both the City of Manistique and Schoolcraft County have been cooperating with the campaign.

Litter is being removed from the township roads in a cooperative drive of the County Highway Department and the township supervisors. Work is planned or has been completed in Seney, Hiawatha, Doyle, Manistique and Mueller townships. Germfask township plans to proceed when manpower is available. No plans have been made yet for Thompson or Inwood townships.

DuFour Creek

One project planned for next month is clean-up of DuFour Creek and other fishing areas by the Manistique Sportsmen's Club and the Boy Scouts. The clean-up is planned to dramatize the dangers of water pollution.

Members of the Coordinating Committee for Operation Pride are Dick Keticik and Ed Doyle, in charge of parks and recreation areas; Bill Putvin, business district efforts; Marcia Hubble, Rev. Roy Pitts, and Mrs. Frances Cockram, working on neighborhood cleanup; and Matt Weber and Dick Rodgers, working on highway and township clean-up.

Dave Rood is working on publicity. Representing the City of Manistique is the City Manager, Robert Noe.

GUESS WHO?

Before I had a chance to say, "Guess who," Jack knew it was I. We're like that—maybe it's because we're twins.

We've always been close. When we were small, we had a private adventure land out in our back woods. Hardly a day went by that Jack didn't help me out of some scrape. He was the one who was able to entice me down from that tree when I fell halfway from the top—and lay paralyzed with fright between two branches. I bailed him out of several misadventures, too.

When it came to college—we chose the same one. And it's been nice. Every now and then we get together and talk out our problems, just as we always have. We go to church together, too.

We're glad Mom and Dad made the Church an important part of our lives. When we think of graduation and the inevitable parting of our ways, it's good to know that each of us has an ever-present source of strength and guidance in God and His Church.
